

STUDENT DAY

2022

HELD BY NWPA PRSA AT EDINBORO UNIVERSITY

>> WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13 <<

A keynote talk by the communications director at the largest sheriff's office in Pennsylvania and a speed networking session featuring some of the top PR professionals in the region highlight NWPA PRSA's Student Day 2022 at Edinboro University.

Tony Griffith, communications director at the Allegheny County Sheriff's Office in Pittsburgh, will launch the event with his talk at 2:00 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the Pogue Student Center. The keynote will immediately be followed by a speed networking session between students & more than 25 regional PR professionals.

<<

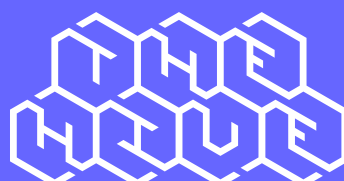

Griffith is responsible for managing all communications at the Allegheny County Sheriff's Office, including media and constituent relations, graphic and web design, social media, public events, and publications. He was included in the 2019 class of "Who's Next" by The Incline, a digital news organization that identifies Pittsburgh's most successful young professionals. Griffith holds a bachelor's degree from Westminster College and a master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh's Graduate School of Policy and International Affairs.

The event is free and open to all college students in the region, but registration is required.

Students may register to attend PRSA Student Day by scanning here or by emailing Edinboro University PRSSA Chapter President Thomas Taylor at tt164462@scots.edinboro.edu.
